Computer Engineering Department
Major Probation and Disqualification Policy, Spring 2016

Based on the University Policy

As in academic probation, students on major probation are restricted to a course load of no greater than 12 units.

II. Major Disqualification

Students who are on a major probation whether the reason is a low major GPA or lack of progress in the major can be disqualified from the major for the same reason or the other. They could be disqualified from the major if:

1. Their term major GPA is below 2.