Course Format

This course is completely online, with no in-person meeting times or office hours. All class activities can be accessed through the Canvas course site. Because of the completely online course format, students must have access to a computer, word-processing software, and a reliable connection to the internet. Most class activities will be through an asynchronous format, so students will be able to complete these activities according to their individual schedule as long as they meet due dates and times. A few activities, such as virtual office hours, will be held live or on specific days and times with some flexibility.

Course Description

This course covers economic theory topics, including the determination of economic aggregates such as total output, total employment, the price level and the rate of economic growth.
