

The Charles W. Davidson College of Engineering

2024 Faculty Award for Excellence in Teaching

Dr. Ayca Erdogan

Dr. Ayca Erdogan is an Associate Professor and Graduate Program Director of MS ISE and Maritistal Analytics Programs at SJSU ISE department. She joined SJSU as an Assistant Professoriae Acceptance of the PhD in Operation Research from North Carolina State University, and B.S. in Industrial Engineering from Istanbul Technical U Turkey. Before joining SJSU ISE, she worked as a postdoctoral research associate at Stanford Mediessityenter and visiting assistant professor at Medical Volume California Viterbi School of Engineering.

Œ X Œ } P v [• Œ • Œ Z] v š Œ • š • Œ ‰ ‰ o] š] } v • } (} ‰ š] u] i š] } v U •] and predictive modeling related to design and operations of complex systems under resource limitation. Specific project areas she worked on include healthcare operations with pent and provider scheduling optimization, healthcare facility location optimization, public health policy decision making, supply chain optimization of subscriptionsed business models, wildfire suppression, and political redistricting. During her postdoctoral work at Stanford, she worked on a collaborative project on building lung cancer progression and screening models which contributed to shape the US Preventative Services Task Force recommendation on lung cancer screening in the US. After join77(in)16()56.TaJSU,

