College of Arts and Sciences, Department of Justice Studies
Sex and Justice, JS 130, Spring 2023

Course and Contact Information

Instructor: Grace Howard

Course Description

JS 130 surveys the relationship between sexuality and social and criminal justice. Students explore the nature and extent of sexual offenses against adults and children. A critical examination of recent public policies aimed at managing sexual aggression is included.

Students in JS 130 examine legal cases, empirical research, and advocacy materials to explore how socially constructed norms shape the legal regulation of sexuality and sexual behavior, and how various elements of sex and sexuality have been criminalized, policed, and governed. We will critically examine how different populations engage the criminal justice system as offenders, victims and survivors of sexual violence, law enforcement, and treatment professionals.

Course Learning Outcomes (CLOs)

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

CLO 1: Demonstrate an understanding of how sex and sexuality intersects with and is treated by various institutions of social and criminal justice.

CLO 2: Demonstrate an empirical understanding of the nature and extent of sexual offenses against adults and children.

CLO 3: Demonstrate an understanding of various pieces of sex or sexuality related legislation and public policies surrounding sexual offending.

CLO 4: Think critically about these issues and produce detailed, scholarly, and objective assessments that demonstrate their ability to conduct independent research and justify their perspective.

CLO 5: Demonstrate their knowledge and familiarity with the material during class by contributing meaningfully and respectfully to class discussions.

CLO 6: Students should read, write, and contribute to discussion at a skilled and capable level.

Required Texts/Readings

All readings will be posted on Canvas.

Technology Requirements

Students will need access to the Internet to complete readings and activities online, and to submit assignments and exams on the course website on Canvas.

Library Liaison

For help with library resources and library research (including the use of databases and online research materials such as journal search engines), students are strongly encouraged to contact the Justice Studies Library Liaison Silke Higgins, MLIS, Academic Liaison Librarian

Classroom Protocol

1. This course depends on participation and interaction. Try to stay on schedule with the course modules and assignments. Come to our Zoom class meetings ready to discuss and ask questions!
2. your classmates, and your professor. Remember we are all human.
3. All classroom participants are expected to foster an environment that encourages participation, rather than silencing others (be respectful to one another, do not insult or intimidate others, evaluate alternative views with an open mind). We will discuss ground rules and develop classroom standards of conduct at the beginning of the semester.
4. Students are encouraged personal, professional, economic, social, political, ethical, and cultural. Graduates of the Department of Justice Studies leave San José State University prepared to enter a range of careers and for advanced study in a variety of fields; they are prepared to more effectively identify and ameliorate injustice in their personal, professional and civic lives. Indeed, the impact of literacy is evident not only within the span of a specific course, semester, or academic program, but also over the span of a lifetime.
