David Neighbors, CPA, MST

David is a partner in BDO's San José office with over 30 years of public accounting experience. He specializes in working with high-networth individuals and families, including founders of closely-held businesses and C-level executives of multinational corporations. He also has extensive experience with partnerships and S corporations. David has worked with clients in the construction and real estate, manufacturing and distribution, technology, professional service, and retail industries.

David has both his undergraduate degree in accounting and MST degrees from San Jose State University. He is an adjunct professor in the MST program teaching individual Tax Compliance and S Corporation Taxation.

Dave says of his university studies and career: "As a proud product of migrant farmworkers, and first generation college student, attending San José State University was a dream come true! The primary difference between my undergraduate studies, and my coursework in the MST program is that, as an accounting undergraduate, my focus was to obtain my degree and become an accounting professional; my MST goal was a quest to quench my thirst for tax knowledge. As a working professional, I had been exposed to the Tax and T (p-1
