

The Philosophy Department has four missions similar to, and based on, the university missions:

- To enrich the lives of its students through philosophical study, discussion, and reflection
- To transmit knowledge of philosophy to its students along with
- The necessary skills for appl The

2. Have high level skills in communication, critical inquiry and the ability to collect and evaluate information successfully, and to use all of these skills in their own original research.
3. Have an understanding of the demands of responsible citizenship and an understanding of how to make and defend ethical choices.
4. Have an understanding of the ways in which culture, race, ethnicity, gender, economic class, sexual orientation, and national membership influence perceptions about reality, knowledge and value.
5. Be able to teach and assess all these skills and competencies at the lower division undergraduate level.