Patricia Chaback is a member of Ernst & Young LLP's National Tax Controversy and Risk Management Services group. Pat assists with the tax compliance and risk management of the communications, technology and media (CTM) industry of the IRS Large Business and International Division, which also included tax law compliance responsibility for the gaming, sports and entertainment industries. Prior to that position, Pat was the Director, Field Operations (DFO-East), for the financial services (banking, brokerage and insurance) industry. Through the many compliance leadership roles that Pat held with the IRS she gained examination experience in virtually all of the industries and industries encompassed within the LB&I Division.

During her distinguished 30-year career with the IRS, Pat was instrumental in the design and implementation of relationship management and dispute resolution programs that include the Compliance Assurance Process, (CAP) and the Quality Examination Process (QEP). Pat has tax compliance experience in the use of the Fast-Track Settlement, the Pre-Filing Agreement (PFA) and the Advance Pricing Agreement (APA) programs. Pat has worked extensively in both the International Economic Co-operation (OECD) Forum on Tax Administration (FTA) subgroup collaborating with the IRS on compliance and risk management protocols.

Pat holds a B.S. in Accounting from Elmira College in New York and a M.S. in Management and Organizational Psychology from the University of New Haven in Connecticut. She is a recipient of the 2003 IRS Executive Development Program and is a recipient of the 2010 Meritorious Service Award from the IRS.
